COUNCIL FAVORS

"ASTORIA'S DAY"

The City Government Cordially Accepts the Courtesy Portland Extends.

THE INTEREST IS GROWING

All Thoughtful Astorians are Glad of the Opportunity to Reciprocate Portland's Friendly Spirit.

The city council of Astoria has formally approved the "Astoria Day" project of the Portland Industrial exposition and has so notified the management. Several of the councilmen stated that they would attend and represent the law-making body of the city by the sea.

President Van Dusen of the Astoria chamber of commerce is pleased with the invitation extended to that body, which is working in harmony with the Portland organization and a cordial response has been made.

Nowhere among the responsible and prominent citizens of Astoria is expressed any of that littleness or narrow-mindedness that is sometimes peevishly claimed to exist. The two cities are fast arriving at a thorough understanding and such events as next Saturday night at Portland and the Astoria regatta but hastens the day when Portland and Astoria will work together for their mutual good.

"The 'Astoria Day' at the fair is not a 'scheme to draw Astoria patronage for Portland merchants,' for people who go shopping do not go on semi-holidays. The Astorians who most enthusiastically favor this friendly visit to the metropolis are those who most truly love Astoria and do all their buying here. They, however, do not blame Portland merchants for accepting any patronage other Astoria people see fit to give them.

The regatta, of which Astoria is so justly proud, and which brings to Astoria each year thousands of dollars, would not be the success it has attained, nor will be the great success that is promised, without Portland's assistance, support and very liberal patronage. Surely, a visit of one day to the city on the Willamette is a small return for the week she spends at the city on the Columbia.

So much for the obligation. There is also the personal pleasure promised that will assist in swelling the crowd going Portland-ward tomorrow. Of all the nights at the exposition, tomorrow night will be the biggest and the best. The attractions will be multiplied. The music will excel all other programs. The attendance will be the largest, and Astoria Day will be so successful that the people of Portland will be impressed that the people of Astoria are wide awake and worthy of consideration and respect.

The railroad is doing its part well, and will leave nothing undone that might add to the enjoyment of the day. The cars will be numerous, and will be hauled up on the Southern Pacific track, to Portland, to Fourth and Washington streets.

Tomorrow, tomorrow, tomorrow—Astoria goes to Portland tomorrow. The formal invitation has been issued, the formal acceptance has been given. The people were going anyway, and now they will go all the merrier.

At the council meeting last night attention was called to the fact that although Astoria has now a population of over 10,000, (according to the school census it is nearer 12,000) there is no inspection of the milk that is daily consumed by the inhabitants, a precaution that other cities deem absolutely necessary. Unkept milk cans and milk from diseased cows are responsible for a great deal of preventable sickness and suffering. The council will take the matter up.

The W. C. T. U. convention, which is now being held in Portland, had an election of officers on the 18th. Mrs. M. J. Kinney of this city, who has been serving as president of the body, was re-elected for another year. Following are the officers and those elected to fill them: President, Mrs. M. Kinney of Astoria; honorary president, Mrs. Heiron D. Harford of Newbury; corresponding secretary Mrs. Lillian J. Amos of Portland; recording secretary, Mrs. Sarah M. Kerr of Portland; treasurer, Mrs. Hattie J. Shane of Portland; secretary Y. W. C. T. U., Miss Effie M. Bennett.

Astorians who happened to be in a position to see the river yesterday at high tide witnessed a very interesting scene. When the very high tide was at its highest, the two great ships Bermuda and Drumbruton moved with majesty down the river, past the city and east anchor in the lower harbor. The R. R. Thompson and Emma Hayward were on either side of the Bermuda, while the Drumbruton was towed by the single tug Oklahoma. The Bermuda had the lead, and immediately after her came the other, both moving along at a good, steady rate of speed. As those on the shore looked their hearts bounded with pleasure at the sight and admiration for those who "go down to the sea in ships."

HORRORS OF PHILIPPINE WAR.

Tales come to us of the sufferings endured by our brave soldiers in the Philippines. The papers ring with them, sympathy is freely given. And yet there are people in our midst of whom we hear nothing, who are just as brave. They are suffering silently and fighting bravely with the greatest enemy of mankind—Dyspepsia, and all its terrible ills. There is relief for them if they will take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters faithfully. It will cure dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, malaria, fever and ague and liver and kidney troubles. It tones up the whole system. Get it from any druggist and see that a private Revenue Stamp covers the neck of the bottle.
